The Liberalist

To-Day — To-Morrow

At every dawn I say,
If not to-day,
My joy will come to me to-morrow
And, waiting for delight,
Dawn becomes night,
'Till thus deceived,
I find unto my sorrow,
At last,
That waiting for to-morrow,
My life has passed.

MEDITATION

"We are so grateful for many things this morning, infinite Origin of all Goodness and Truth and Beauty, that our lips cannot possibly frame that which our heart dictates. We are grateful for the opportunity for this common expression of raising our voices and hearts in the beauty of our litany. We are so glad that there is not an experience of life but that we can possibly find some reference to it in the community of worship which we have just said and sung together. We are glad for the opportunity of the morning made possible by hundreds and thousands of hearts who are listening to these words under all sorts of conditions and in all kinds of environments, some in very humble places, some perhaps in just a little room with a tiny portable set, others in palatial mansions with the most expensive sets, and yet in the unity of the common thought and desire of the hour, all of our hearts can be one, and all of our aspirations can be unified. We are glad too for the opportunity that possibly there is someone who is just finding things pretty hard these days, who has been fighting some losing battle, for we know that it is easy enough to cheer for victory, but we are thinking today of those who are being defeated in the battle, and who they are, and they are the ones on our heart. May there be victory in their defeat, that victory which is above all victory, the victory of the triumphant human spirit. We are thinking of them, we are thinking of people that have had frustrated and disillusioned moments during the past week when some friend failed, or some loved one, something happened to their lives and a sense of defeat is upon them, we are thinking of them too.

We are asking, as we try to send out encouragement, help and inspiration to the people of every creed, and every color, we are asking that in an unusual way our minds and hearts might be stimulated by our great desire that it might be a memorable morning in somebody's life. Before we are through with the opportunity of the day, might it be a day that some heart here, or out there, riding along the highway, in some cabin of a ship at sea, someone listening on a yacht or boat in the harbor or going up and down the lake shore in the loveliness of the morning, somehow, to some life, might this be a new natal day, a coronation day, never, never again to be like what we were because of this day!

That is our prayer, infinite Heart, and we close it after the model prayer:

Our Father, who art in heaven", etc.

"DEFEATING DEFEAT"

Sermon by Dr. Preston Bradley, Pastor of The Peoples Church of Chicago, May 21st, 1939

"Like all of the subjects which I attempt to deal with from this pulpit from week to week, the subject this morning is suggested by the contacts and experiences which I have had with people during the week. I never try to come into this pulpit with merely an academically prepared essay or a discussion that has to do with some of the more or less impracticable experiences or philosophies of life, time is so short. If I had a thousand lifetimes, it seems to me, I still would not have time enough to say all that I would like to say in the opportunity of preaching to help humanity, and consequently I find it less and less possible for me to spend any time in the discussion of those themes that are of such a transitory interest and of such effervescent importance, that they do not belong in the category of significant things, and the reason I have chosen a subject like 'Defeating Defeat', or defeatism, or defeatists, or however you choose to frame it, is based upon the experiences which I have had during the past winter in the travels which I have made up and down this land in the preparation which I have had to make in order to get ready for my weekly radio broadcasts. In all of these experiences and contacts which I have had with humanity, I have sensed something settling down upon people that is very dangerous and treacherous. I have sensed the creation of a certain attitude of incompetency and helplessness. In the face of the whole general sphere of world conditions there is a sense of hopelessness and defeatism as to international affairs, peoples are becoming increasingly resigned to the great critical moments in the life of the world, and with a shrug of the shoulders they answer: 'I don't know what can be done about it. There seems to be nothing to do but just wait and see what does happen. There isn't anything that anybody apparently can do about it, just wait'—a spirit of defeatism in national affairs as they are applied to our own problems as a country and as a people, and there seems to be gradually developing a spirit which finally deepens into a tragic lethargy, if nothing more, of the attitude of the people who simply have come to a certain spirit of resignation. They almost seem to fold their hands and say 'There is nothing that we we can do about it.'

We are not getting anywhere with our greatest problem, the problem of unemployment, we are not getting anywhere with this question of inspiring and developing and creating a larger opportunity for credit that frozen money can be put into circulation again and therefore, through the circulation of money, increase the opportunity for creative labor and for honest wage scales and eliminate gradually relief and governmental charity. There are those who say that we don't seem to be able to do anything about it, we are not getting anywhere fast. There may be temporary spurts, there may be intermittent upheavals of the stock market with some groups of securities rising and others declining, etc., and I meet people every day who say to me, 'What are we going to do about it?' There are a lot of people who are falling into the same old rut that we fell into so many times in the past that we ought to be familiar with and not start by saying, 'Well, now, we are going to wait until 1940, then we will do something about it! We will get rid of Mr. Roosevelt and that will settle it!' And there are a lot of people who are developing a spirit of resignation, of waiting until 1940 until there is some kind of a political upheaval taking place, and they anchor to a political upheaval, and they say, 'Now we have solved something at last!'

Well, now, what are we going to do with this spirit of defeatism? How are we going to think of it? Rationally, dispassionately, constructively? What will be our approach to it? There are two separate approaches to this problem. In the first place I am going to apply some principles involved in overcoming defeat to the whole national program — I should like to take in the international program but that will be quite impossible at the moment,— I am going to concern myself with what can Americans do as Americans in our society to get out of a spirit of defeatism, that it is impossible for us to do anything about the lamentable condition which prevails throughout the nation. Well, let us always be consistent. The first thing is to face the facts, that is the first thing to do in the problem of the individual, you have got to face up the reality, we have got to stop being Narcissus, we have got to face facts, we have got to get out in the presence of reality and we simply must be big enough to acknowledge that important procedure. What are the facts? They are so perfectly obvious as far as the national problems of America are concerned that if I were to repeat them it would be an unwarranted and almost futile thing to do. Probably ten or twelve million unemployed people! They tell us that in the city of Chicago one person out of every five today is on relief—one person out of every five in the city of Chicago, statistics show, are receiving relief! Let us face up to realities. The nearest that we can estimate there are about five million young people of high school age, like this class from the Varna Township High School attending the service this morning, of university and college age, between 18 and 25, who are not creatively absorbed in the society for which they have been given, largely at the expense of the taxpayers in a free public school system which prevails in the United States, a trained mind and an opportunity to take their place creatively and productively in the society which has prepared them for the task. And we have thousands of bewildered young people in America today, 'bewildered' is the word, millions of them, looking forward to what? Every profession overcrowded! There are doctors, lawyers, architects, dentists, engineers, and even preachers, on the relief rolls. Preachers are on them most of the time anyhow, that is not anything startling, but here we have a situation where young people facing the responsibilities of life are bewildered, actually bewildered! While we have millions of dollars, millions of inactive dollars stored in bank and private vaults in the United States of America, millions and millions of them, and everyone of these dollars is afraid to go to work, and there are millions and millions of dollars waiting to take their place in the creative, constructive, economic rehabilitation of the United States of America. They are frozen in their places because of FEAR, fear of some governmental dominance, or some new regulation, or some alphabetical commission, or some new control, or something else, while the taxes of America are increasing to such proportions in every state and city of this great Republic that a few more appropriations from a Federal Congress, many of whose members by no authority or a sense of responsibility as individuals in individual problems of economics and finance, are spending billions and billions of dollars of the American taxpayers' money, and what is happening? No wonder there has been a spirit of defeatism settling down upon a great many Americans who see their young people and our aged people in bewilderment and consternation, with thousands losing their security and their little bit which they had put away somewhere for that rainy day, and now the rainy day has come and it is gone, and the answer has been relief and all the rest of it!

Defeatism! Ladies and gentlemen, I say this because I can not help but say it under the imperative of what I feel to be a very serious moment in the whole program for this country: forces are at work here, evidences of it every twenty-four hours, and these forces are possible only because of economic and industrial failure! When will America with her sense of defeatism, that she cannot solve these problems, learn that the eternal lesson planted there upon the sky of men's fears were written by the blood of Europe? When will we learn that our way will be the European way unless we solve these problems and get about the business? That's the thing that we are losing sight of! Why do you suppose there is Communism in Europe? Why do you suppose there is Fascism there, or Naziism? Do you think Mr. Stalin of Russia, or Herr Hitler of Germany, or Benito Mussolini of Italy—do you think for a moment that these men are the creators of Communism, Fascism and Naziism, did they cause anything, did they create anything? Be sober minded for a moment and thoughtful. Let me make a generalization and then you disprove it. You never would have had a Stalin or a Trotsky, you never would have had a Hitler or a Mussolini in any such proportions as you are now hearing from them, if Russia, and Germany, and Italy, as a nation, had solved their economic and industrial problems and did not create an environment in which the abortive theories of totalitarian philosophy could germinate and grow! Communism, Fascism, Naziism, these are results, they came after something else, and the 'after something else' which they came from were economic and industrial inefficiency, incompetency, mediocrity, chicanery, graft, greed, political corruption, civic unrighteousness and rottenness of the people themselves! That's where these things are born! When the people of a country get rid of their spirit of resignation and say, 'We can do something about it', IT WILL BE DONE! The countries which I have mentioned, all had gone so low, all had become so corrupt, Italy was honey-combed with graft, you could buy your way across the country, every official had a price; the whole economic tragedy of Germany, thousands of starving German babies, hundreds and hundreds of panic-stricken German people, Germany in economic failure and industrial tragedy! You get a people psychologically in that environment and then when the big voice comes, or the smooth, pleasant voice, or any kind of a voice, and says to the people: 'Follow me! I can do the trick, I have the answer, I have the key, follow me!' and your modern dictators are born, and no dictator of any coloration was ever born in any other way, and if the United States of America ever gets a dictator of any kind, whether it is a dictator of the revolution of the proletariat, or a dictator of the Fascist group, or of the Nazi philosophers, whether it is a dictator of any kind, if the United States of America ever gets a dictator, it will be because you, and you, and you, and you, and the preacher, and all of us say 'It is too much for us, you go ahead, we will follow.'

What's the matter with us? What is the matter with this America that we are all excited about a Nazi speech and a Communist attempt to overthrow the government? What's the matter with us that the revelations of the Dies Committee is going to shake, this week, the very foundation of a great many people's source of inspiration? What are we finding about men, measures and institutions, what kind of a psychology are we creating here in America? Why, what's the matter with us? I think that it is time that every American, and everyone who loves democracy and loves the principle of freedom, I think it is time that they stood up, put their shoulders back, right straight back, good and square like mine are this minute, put their chins right up good, get a deep breath of fresh air, and then say to themselves 'YOU, TELLING ME?' Why, it would create a new psychology in twenty-four hours in America to solve these problems, a brand new psychology, and that's what we need.

I tell you, some of your grandfathers would be ashamed of you! Some of your fathers would be ashamed of you. I know some members of my family that would be ashamed of me if I were to stand up in an hour like this and become a first-class crybaby. There were not many crybabies in my family, there were too many Irish. Some of them went out across those unchartered prairies and unblazed forests and out into the mud prairies; too many people in the background of this America of ours for us to lie down on this job. HOW DO THEY GET THAT WAY? Too many of the fine old pioneer type that did not ask for any ease.

It was just like the Texas lone ranger when they had a riot in a small town in Texas and the sheriff thought he could not handle the situation so he sent word that he had to have help right away, send the army! When the train pulled in a long, tall, raw-boned Texan got off, and the sheriff ran up to him and said, 'Where's the army?' And the ranger said: 'Army? You haven't got but one riot here, have you?' That's the kind of spirit that I would like to inculcate into the breasts of Americans on a day like this. We have got only one depression, she is a winner, but it is only ONE, and your fathers and my father weathered good presidents and bad presidents, good courts and bad courts, good congresses and bad congresses, good legislatures and bad legislatures, but the people that built this blessed land weathered the storms, and if you have got any courage left, you will go out and do the same thing!

The difficulty is that in this country we get all messed up in this business of administration. We elect somebody by the biggest majority and then we give them two years, and we will do the same thing in 1940. In November, 1940, the American people will elect somebody president of the United States, I don't know who, by the biggest majority any president ever received in an election, you will all be doing it, running to this or that political national convention that we are going to have pretty soon, and you will whoop it up for the Grand Old Party or the Democratic Donkey, we will all get badges and make speeches, while the boys in the back room in the hotel will fix up the tickets. Then when it is all ready, we will have a convention and we will call the roll, we will do all that, and then we will elect somebody by the biggest majority that anybody has ever been elected by, and give them two years! What are we solving by such silliness, such utter foolishness. No democracy—and this is a dogma—no democracy was ever yet saved from the top down, democracies are saved from the bottom up, and we in America had better get out of this defeatism that we are in.

To do what we have done! My word! Whisper, I can whisper and in the short wave that whisper can be heard around the world, Melbourne, Australia hearing the whisper. Look what we have done in the quest of the physical resources of America! Look what we have done for business, creating machines by which we can produce the necessities and labors of life! Look what we have done in science and its application to agriculture, to manufacturing, look what has been accomplished by your scientists and chemists in the physical equipment of your plants, your capacity to anticipate markets, the type of men who have become executives and leaders, men of ability, of strength, of power to build a great physical embodiment of the great soul which is the soul of America, and you mean to tell me that America can do this and then fail in the biggest thing of all, namely: the creation of a nation where every man and every woman who finds work necessary can be engaged in honorable toil for an honorable day's pay, and no young person shall ever have a bewildered brain again, that there is a place for every citizen, and every citizen in his place, and get rid of relief, get rid of the whole diabolical idea of play-work, eliminate the shovel snoozers forever!

Don't you smile for one moment thinking that I am criticizing the WPA, I am not. I want to be quite frank with you and a little startling, and I will probably get the very dickens for it, but we have only got two Sundays left and I want to have something to go on. I am not criticizing the workers. When I see these men the way they work all over the country, I feel like going up to any one of them when I go by and say to them, 'Look here, slow up a little, slow up a little, too fast.' Do you think that I would work any harder for anybody for $55 a month? Well, I would not. Now what do you think of that? I would not, I would be just like the rest of them, I would make my job last as long as I could with that $55 a month between bankruptcy of my family and loved ones and me. Fifty-five dollars a month and expect me to break my back in America? Ridiculous! Nobody ever ought to work for $55 a month in America doing anything, and certainly not in physical labor.

But I say to you, and I want you to see the principle back of it, I don't blame the worker. Why, there are men in the audience today that $55 is not cigar money to them for a month, and I should hate to say what it was in some of the rest of the habits that some of you may have, but it does not go very far, and you know it, and I know it—$55 a month! You have got to find a better answer than that, ladies and gentlemen, a much better answer, and you can find it, you can find it. One of the things you could be doing in the face of all this business is to increase the purchasing power of America by getting money into circulation. Why doesn't somebody do something about it? Congress has been pussyfooting and puttering along with that problem for the past two years and now they are just beginning to say that probably what we ought to do is to find a way by which we can stimulate purchasing power! Some of us have been saying that for more than twenty years, and we could not get elected to Congress if we wanted to. Do you see what I mean? I have said everything I have said this morning because I think America has got the stuff in her to make it go, because she is beating back, and will beat back, the spirit of defeatism. LAND, SKY, OIL, COAL, IRON, COPPER, WHEAT, RYE, BARLEY, SWINE, SHEEP, BEEF, (and not Argentine beef either) AMERICA HAS THE RESOURCES OF MEN, WOMEN, CHILDREN AND LAND, AND IF WE FAIL NOW, IT WILL BE HISTORY'S GREATEST TRAGEDY!

I like the spirit of that aviator that I read about the other day, who flew the mails for years and years, starting out when the airplanes were but worthless crates, a youngster, a pioneer in aviation, and he always carried a letter on him and on the outside of the envelope was written 'Not to be opened except after my death.' One day, flying between Cleveland and New York up over the mountains of Pennsylvania, he crashed and they found him a mangled heap of blood and bone and the letter. They tore that letter open and this was what it said: 'To my comrades and co-pilots: Do not feel sorry for me, we are blazing a trail through the sky-lanes. My death was necessary as a trail blazer. So long. Good luck. I'll be seeing you again. A happy landing.' And he signed his name. I liked the spirit of that young man, he defeated defeat."

WHO LOOKS AT BEAUTY

Who looks at beauty with glad eyes
And finds in it surcease from care,
Who marks each small and lovely thing,
Is praising God all unaware.

Whose heart lifts up in gratitude
For cloud and leaf and budding stem,
Is sharing the delight He knew
The morning He created them.

Whose ears are keened to catch the first
Faint bird note in the darkened trees,
Can hear the music of the spheres,
The ageless heavenly symphonies.

Who holds his breath at the far scent
Of some wild blossom on the air,
Is giving thanks unknowingly,
Is voicing an unspoken prayer.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB

Various chairmen and committees of the Woman's Club are working on programs, the year book and bazaar plans for the coming Club season. Mrs. Bassler, program chairman, is very capable of presenting excellent programs for the Club meetings and will strive to please all tastes if such a thing is possible. Getting the year book ready for the printers is quite a task,—the majority of members take these neat little books as a matter-of-course, with no thought of the labor someone had to put in on it. They will be ready for distribution at the opening meeting.

Every Wednesday Mrs. Pierce, President of the Club, holds "open house" at her residence, 1625 North Shore Ave., where any member of the Woman's Club is welcome to come and work on articles for the Bazaar. In this way much can be accomplished during the summer and pleasant fellowship makes play of the work. An early beginning is necessary to the success of any bazaar. Materials for towels, aprons, utility bags, and pillow slips will be greatly appreciated for these sewing groups to work on. If you cannot come yourself and sew why not send material? Address to Mrs. Elmer Pierce, 1625 North Shore Ave., and please be sure to attach your name and address so that you may receive acknowledgement and thanks for the donation. Members of the Woman's Club were saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. Emma Henderson the last of June. Mrs. Henderson has lived the past few years at the Eastern Star Home at Rockford, Illinois, coming in occasionally to visit old friends and to attend the Peoples Church of which she was a loyal and active member since its organization in 1912. She was a charter member of the Woman's Club and could always be counted on to do her part as long as she lived in Chicago. At the "Home Coming of Old Members Luncheon" in January Mrs. Henderson was a guest of honor seated at the speaker's table, was presented with some flowers and affectionately introduced by Mrs. Bradley. Mrs. Henderson arose and spoke graciously of her long association with the Church and the Woman's Club, mentioning the past-presidents of the early days. She expressed her love for the Church and Dr. and Mrs. Bradley and wished for all continued success and happiness. In bidding goodbye at the close of the afternoon to Mrs. Bradley she said: "This may be my last time—perhaps I can never come to another meeting. I want you and Dr. Bradley to know how grateful I am for all the Church has meant to me!" We will not have Emma Henderson, our kind staunch friend, at another meeting—but she made for herself a place amongst us that will not soon be forgotten. The funeral service in Dr. Bradley's absence was taken charge of by Rev. Henry Clark. A large number of the Club and Church members attended.

PLEASE REMEMBER

There is one event held by the Peoples Church in which everyone who desires to may have a helping hand. The Annual Church Bazaar is held early in December under the auspices of the Woman's Club, and gives an opportunity to members, radio listeners and friends to do their part in making it a financial and social success. These summer months while on vacation jaunts or at home, plan your donation for the bazaar. There is a place for everything.

This is the season when housewives are filling the fruit pantry with numerous glasses of jelly, marmalade, jam, pickles, preserves. These old-fashioned homey things have become quite a fad again. Reserve a little space on a shelf and mark it "Peoples Church Bazaar"—then place there a few glasses—or jars—of the delicious things you "put up" — and when the time comes send them for the "Pantry Booth" at the bazaar. There will be booths for pillow slips, towels, luncheon sets, kitchen articles of all kinds, plants, baked goods, quilts, pillows, handkerchiefs, fancy articles. knitted things, aprons,—and don't forget the "White Elephant Booth"—If you have some article in your home that you have tired of or that does not please your taste, the White Elephant will accept it, and sell it. There is always someone who wants what you do not want! That's funny isn't it? But it's true. Proceeds from the bazaar go to the Church to be used for philanthropic and other purposes under advice of the Board of Trustees.
